June 2012

MCA Board of Directors – Behind the Scenes

MCA is governed by an independent board of directors, who meet monthly and more often than that if needed. Each of the directors either has or has had a child as an MCA student, giving them a keenly vested interest in the school. The board discusses such issues as new hires, the operating budget, and new business such as the MCA high school, with every topic geared towards progressing the mission of Millennium Charter Academy.

Our board members bring business, financial, legal, and personal savvy to the running of MCA, and they execute their duties efficiently and professionally. They work cohesively as a board and work well with the headmaster. Three of the current board members have been on the board since the inception of MCA, and during the initial building phase in 2000, they personally listed their names to help guarantee the construction loan. Fortunately, the school has grown to the point where this is no longer required, but it certainly shows the level of dedication and commitment to the school that our board members have.

Take this opportunity to know them, and when you see them at school or around town, take a moment to thank them for their behind the scenes work that keeps our school running so smoothly.
